Summary	The first sentence states the main idea followed by only the key events in the plot with a concluding sentence that doesn't give away the ending.	The summary includes the main idea and important events but gives away too much of the story and/or ending.	The summary is more of a retell or "listing" that includes too many details or leaves out important events.	Summary is too brief.	undefined
Ingredients	A description of the main characters including how they look, act, think and feel. The setting includes where and when the story took place using descriptive "juicy" words.	They included brief descriptions of the character and setting but left out relevant information.	They did either characters or setting but not both.	They list the characters and setting without describing them.
Editor's Review	Three reasons why they liked the book including evidence directly from the story. At least one direct quote that supports their reason.	Three reasons why they liked the book including evidence directly from the story for two of the items or without quoting directly from the story.	They listed specific reasons without supporting them with evidence from the book.	They listed generic reasons without supporting them.
Neatness and Effort	The book jacket has no distracting errors, corrections or erasures and is easily read. It appears the student spent a lot of effort getting things just right.	The book jacket has almost no distracting errors, corrections or erasures and is easily read. It appears the student worked hard on it.	The book jacket is fairly readable but the quality is not too good on some parts. It looks like the student ran out of time or didn't take care of it.	Very messy and hard to read. It looks like the student threw it together at the last minute without much care.
